London, Sept. 3.-The White Star her Olympic's first cabin list at her Miling to-day aggregated 751 names, the largest the great liner has ever arried across the ocean in either difection, and probably the largest number of first cabin passengers ever carfied by any ship. It is some two score more than the Olympic brought out from New York on her initial eastward voyage.

Lloyd C. Griscom, who was one of the passengers, said before leaving Euston that the Mexican situation should be taken out of politics, and that both parties should unite to support President Wilson in his conduct of affaire.

George W. Perkins, who has been automobiling with his family in the British Isles and has been studying industrial conditions in the North of England, said he was astounded to find that one banking corporation, the London County and Midland Bank, held deposits equal to one-third of New York City's combined banking deposits. He said that if such a case occurred in New York there would be a big stir, but no one seemed to worry about it here.

Gus Sohlke and Clifford Fisher, of the London Opera House, are leaving on the Olympic to get new effects and new chorus girls in New York.
